Nuissell News And Comment

Not many county residents have stopped to consider the fact that Jefferson County outside of Louisville is the second largest populated area in the State of Kentucky.

No other city or county in the state has a population of practically 100,000, except Louisville. These 100,000 persons are living in an almost anarchistic condition. They have little concern with their schools, their courts, their roads, their utilities or other matters that concern them most.

These 100,000 persons are dependent almost entirely on the state of Kentucky and the city of Louisville for their rules and regulations. The Fiscal Court has little power to make any independent move for the welfare of the people. It holds the money bags, but Louisville with its municipal organization contrive to get the largest part of Court funds.

No other group of this size is so scarcely supplied with fire protection, higher education, adequate transportation and many other advantages to which they are entitled.

Again we emphasize the need for more effective county policing. From the Oak Grove community comes accounts of attempted assault and highway robbery. The county has become the scene of misdemeanors and crimes that are expected in a crowded city but should be prevented in the country. Common sense and practicality suggests that county police do more patrolling and that foot patrol of congested county districts is advisable.

Veterans To Get Use of Gymnasium

Prompt action was taken by Ray Baer, supervisor of County Recreation, on behalf of the veterans who complained that the Jefferson High School gymnasium had not been made available to their group for basketball practice. Without payment of a fee, the "recreation department," said Baer, "will assume responsibility for providing equipment and gymnasiums for any group of war veterans in the county who wish to organize athletic teams."

The Jefferson town vets will have the use of the high school gymnasium one night a week starting Wednesday March 13 with the recreation staff member present to cooperate. I have talked to Marshall Moore Jr., and assured him that our facilities are at his and his comrades' disposal."

There are several groups of vets in the county who have made request for recreation opportunities and one of the immediate plans is the organization of a basketball league composed of teams sponsored by war veterans.

Charles Vetter, assistant county supervisor of recreation will have charge of athletic activities for veterans.

WHAT Is Your Community Doing For Your Boys And Girls?

By Ray Baer
Fairdale has inaugurated a recreational program that gives promise of becoming an outstanding feature of Jefferson County's play program.

A first meeting at the Fairdale camp with 70 boys and girls present was held with principal Charles W. Blake of the Fairdale School as chairman and plans were thoroughly discussed. Representatives of the county recreation department were present and promised their cooperation of the county staff.

It was decided to hold two two weeks each week on Monday evening for children under 14 years of age and the second session on Friday evenings for those over 14. All expressed a desire for a varied program and to be invited to join in the fun.

The Buzz Club is preparing to start rehearsals for the one-act play, "The White Phantom" which they will produce in the county Dramatic Tournament.

Recreation and play will be the theme of the Melora P.T.A. party, March 12. Group games, folk games and individual stunts will feature the program.

Vetter, Elected
Charles Vetter, assistant supervisor of recreation for Jefferson County has been elected president of the Louisville Amateur Boxing Association of Jefferson County.

J'town Bank Officials Sit Tight, Wait Appeal

In what may be a long series of moves, Judge Lawrence Speckman handed down his decision Tuesday, that the four complaining members of the Bank of Jeffersontown's were entitled to a seat on the board of directors and six incumbents must vacate.

Notice of appeal from the judge's decision by attorney J. Walter Clemens, for the defendants, put the matter in abeyance until the higher court reverses or upholds Speckman's findings.

Meanwhile business at the bank was as usual, with no withdrawals of accounts, very little curiosity on the part of the depositors and only one pertinent telephone call, that of a woman depositor inquiring if Earl Johnson, former cashier, had taken over yet.

Convinced as the community is, that the bank's business is sound and the tempest only a matter of personal antagonisms, the common attitude is almost one of indifference.

Until the Court of Appeals acts, which may be several months, the bank will continue under the direction of its present officers, Harry L. Swain, Dr. J. R. Shacklette, C. F. Bowles, T. T. Carver, W. L. McMillan and J. B. Melvin. If the higher court reverses Speckman there will be no change in control.

The claimants are Earl R. Johnson, John Lang, B. C. Burford and W. H. Martin.

The East Jefferson Lions Club will play its Fourth Annual basketball game with local high school experts, Tuesday evening, March 12 at the Jeffersontown High School gym.

The Lions have a perfect record for the past three years having defeated the Jeffersontown '43 basketball team, and the Fern Creek '44. This year it will take on an all-star team composed of top-notch players from Fern Creek and Jeffersontown High School teams.
Included in the club basketball squad are, John Ramsey, Carl Lamar, H. J. Priestley, Earl Duncan, and others. The purchase of uniforms will be the first order of business. This game will start at 7:30.

The proceeds of the game will be used for the charity program of the Lions Club, one feature of which is the purchase of glasses for underprivileged children.

The public is invited and fun and thrills are promised the spectators.

Cobwell Converses With Commissioner

Tuesday morning County Commissioner E. P. White, Jr. found his way obstructed as he attempted to enter his office at the Louisville plant where he earns his bread.
Cobwell Clod from out Swamp College way, stood arms akimbo glaring at the smiling commissioner.

"Why hello, Mr. Clod," said the commissioner. "What's on your mind?"
Clod glowered. "Been up to France and back."
"Sure, just got back. Went up to you," interrupted Clod, "I know," interrupted Clod, "you went up to boost that city-county sewer deal. And you pretend to be a friend to us county folks."

Clod spat at the corner of his mouth. "Now see here Clod," blurted the commissioner. "You don't understand. That's the same old line, broke in Clod. For years the city flourished around, milking the county for all it was worth and if we protested, we were told we didn't understand. We didn't understand the city. This sewer proposition is another county cheating idea."

Senior Baseball League Planned For County

By Charles Vetter
With the baseball season rapidly approaching an end, baseball fever is beginning to infect Jefferson County. And with baseball in the air the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board is turning its attention to the organization of county baseball leagues to be composed of teams in the county whose members are above the age of 18 years.

A league, representing the western section, and one representing the eastern section of Jefferson County will be in action each Saturday and Sunday at various parks, which have been made available to the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board at many locations in the county. Two full rounds of league play will be for the purpose of organization and discussion plans for the coming baseball season.

Baseball teams may be organized by any Jefferson County group and are expected to be sponsored by churches, veterans, alumnae groups, business groups, lodges, and independent organizations. Any county resident who wants to take part in the national pastime, will be given his opportunity by the Jefferson County.

There will be a meeting of all team managers at the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation office, 402 Fiscal Court Bldg., on Monday, March 11th, at 8 p.m. This meeting will be for the purpose of organization and discussion plans for the coming baseball season.

Spring Track Meet To Be County-Wide

In presenting a well-rounded recreation program for boys and girls of Jefferson County the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board is planning track and field meets in various communities. Track, one of the oldest of all sports and one of the most valuable for the training of strong bodies, suffered most of all because of the war. It is, however, to once more come into its own this spring with the promotion of track meets for boys and girls all over Jefferson County.

Meets are to be held in central locations with all groups of boys and girls competing in such events as the dashes, broad jumps, high jumps, relays, base ball throw and other related track and field events. Ribbons will be awarded by the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board for excellence in performance in these contests. Events open to the most valuable for the training of girls will be announced at a later date along with the location of the meets. All interested groups of the county are urged to begin their training programs now in order to be the best possible physical condition when their leaders call for try-outs.

Winners representing the various communities of Jefferson County will meet in a mammoth County-wide track and field meet to determine county champions on May 30th.

'Noble in Purpose' But No 'Justification' Says Luther Stein - 'Socialistic' Claims Anonymous Note Signed 'Republican Friend'

The Jefferson County Fiscal Court with County Commissioner Miles Thacker objecting, passed a resolution last week to establish a fund to inaugurate the building of inexpensive homes for war veterans to meet in some measure the constantly growing shortage of homes.

The plan which was suggested to the Court by a group of citizens authorizes the immediate planning and building of a number of homes according to the needs and wishes of veteran applicants, not to exceed $6,000 in an annual program.

The county's building fund reserve of $250,000, at present inactive will be used to underwrite the program, which would conduct interviews with veterans who desire to use the Court building plan with private enterprise.

The resolution carried a recommendation that the Louisville Board of Aldermen conduct a similar plan in Louisville.

A number of drawings of suggested homes by Architect Maurice Ingram were offered the Court. These plans were for homes with private entrance and a variety of exterior designs.

The sum of $60,000 was made immediately available for the work.

Following the publication of the action of the Court in the Louisville details, members of the Board of Aldermen, and letters from Luther R. Stein, vice president of Belknap Hardware Company and from a "good" Republican, identity unknown:

Dear Sir:

Recreation Interest High at St. Matthews

The Recreation Institute held at the Greathouse School which closed Wednesday evening was well attended and the program was received enthusiastically.

On the opening night, March 1, addresses were made by Mrs. H. B. Lovell, member of the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board; Earl Armstrong of the Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. L. E. Slattery of Middletown; J. E. Dodson of Lyndon; Richard Van Housen of Anchorage; Mrs. Christine Sturges of Eastwood and Dr. K. P. Vinsel of the L.A.D.A.

Monday night airplane modeling was demonstrated by Jim Leedom, a local expert on finger printing and shellcraft; Don Lanham presented whittling and Ray Baer, county supervisor of recreation led a number of group social games.

The closing program, Wednesday, March 6, folk dancing led by Shirley Durham and square dancing by Al Root were the principal features of the evening. More recreational facilities for St. Matthews, Anchorage, Middletown, and Eastwood will probably result from the deliberations of the institute.

Dr. G. B. Hill has been confined to his home the past week after a minor operation.

Jefferson County Open Basketball Tournament

Jefferson County is to have its first County-wide basketball tournament during the week of March 19-23. Sponsored by the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board, the tournament is set-up to make it possible for every man or boy who wants to participate in basketball to have that opportunity.

In order that every boy desiring to play may get his part in the tournament no age limit has been set for teams participating. This means that many teams composed of returned veterans as well as alumnae groups of various county schools will organize teams to enter the big meet. There is no entry fee involved and all that is required is a team of players to enter the Recreation Tournament to fill out the entry blank, clip it, and mail it to the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Office, 402 Fiscal Court Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

Any community may enter as many teams as it likes thus making it possible for business, professional or veteran groups to organize teams along with churches, schools or any other groups. Several veteran teams are already scouting in the county and a few have signed their desire to play in the meet. Teams from the various counties high schools or parochial schools may organize under a manager and take part in this first county-wide basketball tournament. Teams outside the Jefferson County Area, are not eligible to compete.

Suitable awards will be presented the winners with an All-Star Tournament team named. Officials will be provided by the Jefferson County Recreation Board with Charles Vetter as tournament manager. Managers of teams entered must have their teams entered by March 18th and their rosters filed with the tournament manager at 402 Fiscal Court Bldg., Louisville, Ky. There is no limit to the number of men on each team roster.

All team managers will meet with the tournament manager at the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Office, 402 Fiscal Court Bldg., Louisville, Ky., on March 18th, to draw for positions and to iron out details of the tournament play.

COSWELL CONVERSES WITH COMMISSIONER

"You're wrong, Clod," said the Commissioner with some heat. "This is a good thing for city and county. It provides a way."

"A way to put the county more firmly in the hands of the city," finished Clod.

"The county has representation on the sewer project."

"Yes, it has two fellows and the city's got three. When five get together, who's going to get the best of it, huh?" Clod was shaking a fist in the Commissioner's face.

"Now see here, Coswell," White shoved the fist out of his eyes. "You gotta be reasonable. The city means well by county this time. This isn't a skin game. It's progress. And you shouldn't stand in the way. Why this means county communities that have sewer problems can go to the new city-county sewer project and have these problems worked out."

The American Way

YOU'VE GOT TO DO IT YOURSELF

By GEORGE PECK
Crossing Columbus Circle in New York City one evening I observed a famous orator who had gathered quite an audience around him. It was evident he was the performer on the Columbus Circle that evening as his rivals were attracting few listeners. He was "stealing the show."

Curiosity got the better of me and I paused to watch and listen, for which I am mighty thankful. This fellow was immense; he was giving that crowd a real message. Just as I heard such a sound and at the same time, such a simple explanation of Americanism.

The Lovorn 4-H Club was given a Valentine party, February 14 by the leaders, Miss Kaufman and Mrs. O. L. Doak.

There were 30 members present. A very decorative box was prepared and placed on a table. It was filled with brimming to the top and after the exchange of love letters, refreshments were served and all reported a good time.

The Lovorn 4-H Club held its monthly meeting February 18, 1946, with 19 members and both leaders present. Also Mr. Quisenberry, Mr. Brown and Mrs. Ward.

The meeting was called to order by President, club pledge recited, flag pledge given, roll call and minutes of previous meeting were read.

We heard from Mr. Quisenberry to let us know his last time to be with us, but we will try to do our best for Mr. Brown.

The meeting was adjourned—Reported, Thomas Kaufman.

The Fiscal Court In Action

February 27, 1946
County Treasurer James E. Thurn's report was received and filed by the Court. The county balance as of February 26, 1946, was $852,297.11.

Welfare Director Matt Henchey appeared before the Court to suggest an increase of around $5,000 in the welfare budget. The matter was referred to the Budget Commission. He also submitted his resignation effective February 28, and the Court regrettably accepted.

Hazel Ales, Raymond Marlowe, Oval Haynes and J. C. Cornelius appeared before the Court with an agreement permitting the County to set up a county dump fill on their property in exchange for straightening out a "U" turn in the Big Run Creek ditch. The matter was referred to County Attorney Steinfeld for the purpose

A Message Concerning Telephones For Farmers

One of our most important peacetime activities, supplying telephones in farm areas, has been resumed and is being expanded as rapidly as equipment and materials are available.

Considerable time and equipment will be required to build the lines and install the facilities necessary to extend service to all areas.

You will be glad to know, however, that we have started our rural development activities and are expanding the work to bring telephones to additional farm communities just as fast as we can.

of drawing up formal petition, and to the Louisville and Jefferson County Planning and Zoning Commission for approval.

Albert Snawder of the Jefferson Hill Road appeared before the Court to request aid in drainage of private property and was turned down. Rice Wurst and Lucille Maupin asked the Court to clean out a ditch on their private property. The Court refused but agreed to see that the ditches on Manlick Road and Saint Andrews Church Road in the area were cleaned out.

The Jefferson County Forest Commission members, Eugene Stuart and Henry J. Stites, appeared before the Court to explain that Mr. H. L. Weir of the National Recreation Association, was available to the Court for a survey of county territory in the interest of a county forest, at an approximate cost of $757 a month. He was hired and Eugene Stuart was instructed to complete the negotiations and lay out Mr. Weir's work.

Ben F. Vogt, owner of the property on Newburg Road and South County Road, appeared before the Court with a deed granting the County the six acres of ground situated on a county yard, and was paid $20,000 as the purchase price.

Ortha Henahan, W. Steedon and Rosella Polgnard, all living on Manlick Road, appeared before the Court in the interest of better drainage of the area, but it was explained that the County had no legal authority to spend money to drain private property, and this delegation was given assurance that the County would have the right, through the Jefferson County Soil Conservation supervisors, to do this kind of work.

J. Maurice Ingram, architect, appeared before the Court with plans and specifications, beautifully drawn, of suggested housing units for veterans. These plans were ordered temporarily mounted in the County Court room for display. Commissioner White introduced a resolution to hire Mr. Ingram, and to set aside Court funds to finance a ten-house experimental housing set-up entitled the "Jefferson County Fiscal Court Veterans Housing Plan," but Commissioner Thacker, on the strength of the ruling by County Attorney Steinfeld that the plan was illegal, voted "no" on the resolution. Judge Barker and Commissioner White voted for the resolution and it was carried; however, on insistence of County Attorney Steinfeld, he will continue to fight the resolution and the order and carry the matter to the Court of Appeals.

David Cole and Lewis B. Kerber, Jr., appeared to protest dumping of refuse in the ditch on the McAtee property by county truck. An affidavit was drawn, and Messrs. Hays and Miller requested that he be identified with the opposition to the pumper purchase. Judge Barker finally terminated the angry discussion by saying that action had been taken on the matter and the case was closed.

Colonel Tom Dover, Chief of County Police, appeared before the Court to request purchase of two motor cycles. Court agreed.

Victor Knudler, County Maintenance Engineer, appeared before the Court to support recommendation for a considerable alteration in the Jefferson County Home at Jeffersontown, to overcome all the deficiencies. He ordered a complete survey made.

Attorney F. L. Robinson, representing the Duke and Ben County, appeared before the Court to protest a resolution passed several weeks ago giving to County Buyer C. A. Taylor full authority to purchase everything over ten dollars for every department. Mr. C. A. Taylor claimed that this worked a hardship on him in this emergency—he had to buy when and where he could get material, and the matter was referred to County Attorney Steinfeld and County Buyer Taylor and H. T. Crenshaw for discussion and recommendation next week.

Court adjourned at 6 o'clock and then listened to a housing plan by Jack E. Mudd, Attorney David Cole and Lewis B. Kerber, Jr. who have invented a scheme of buying and financing fifty homes for veterans on the site of the old Jefferson County, the homes to be built by the veterans themselves and financed through the G. I. Bill of Rights provisions. The houses will cost $3,000 and will sell for $5,000 with the profit going into a revolving fund of the corporation for the building of more homes. The Fiscal Court asked to cooperate with the plan they could and the members agreed.

HOMEMAKERS

SOUTH JEFFERSON
Mrs. Louis Hollis, Greenwood Road, was hostess to the South Jefferson Homemakers for their meeting, held February 20.

Mrs. Sanders opened the meeting with scripture reading, which was followed by a short devotion by Mrs. Hornung. The entire morning was spent in learning how to place our patterns on the material; cutting a garment; and seam finishes. This lesson was given by Mrs. James Lowen and Mrs. Chester Swearingen.

After luncheon the regular business meeting was conducted by our president Mrs. White. Mrs. White, our new Home Demonstration Agent, was present and spoke briefly about some of the plans for the year. Mrs. Finn discussed safety, both in the home and on the highways.

Our next regular meeting will be held March 20, at the home of Mrs. Harvey Garey.

WRIGHT VIEW
The Wright View Homemakers met in the home of Mrs. Oscar Gattley on February 13.

There were 14 members and three visitors present. The major project was given by leaders, Mrs. E. Schaeferberger and Mrs. C. H. Sims. This lesson was continued from last month and was on cutting garments.

The lunch was carried out in true valentine style and enjoyed very much. Mrs. Evans the new Home Demonstration Agent was present in the afternoon and gave us a short talk. We are very glad to have her with us. She is not new to Jefferson County, but was here in 1937.

The February and Home week at Lexington was discussed by those who were able to attend. Recreation was led by Mrs. Brodage and was also in valentine spirit. This being all for the day we adjourned to meet next month with Mrs. R. Pfeiffer. Mrs. C. H. Sims, Publicity.

It has just occurred to me that only once in my life as a speaker have I made an address at a memorial-day service. And yet I seem to myself to have been making just such speeches always for these articles are in the nature of a tribute to a past that is certainly gone so far as time is concerned but is by no means erased from the memories of those of us who lived in those remote areas.

In the first place I think of myself as a chronicler of this past as a matter of plain enjoyment. I love to think over the background of my generation and then to share my memories with others. I make no bones about saying that I like to share my thinking; it is not egotism that prompts me to do this but a sincere feeling that what pleases me can be made to please those who read what I write. If it were a question of morals, probably I would not be so eager to please, for that might smother an effort to worm my way into your feelings. But we are constituted that what deeply and sincerely affects one of us is transmitted easily to others. My old home, my childhood, my country school, my Fidelity and its stores and post-office—all would seem part of a very egotistic memory if it were not for the fact that all of these things, however personal they may have been, were yours, too, with only slightly different names. When I have remembered most accurately and have written most plainly, then I get letters telling me that the readers had the identical experience that had been enjoyable or so tragic to me. When I am not quite so personal, no letters or telephone messages arrive. Thus I know that I am least egotistic when I speak most intimately about my own experiences, however paradoxical that may sound.

Besides this personal enjoyment, I feel that somebody owes it to the younger generation to reveal an earlier time as an actuality and not merely a theatrical something that radio and theatre actors laugh at or shed crocodile tears over. My early life was just as real as the one I now live. Fidelity was not the only place in the world, but to me then it seemed so, probably many more than the good-sized town where I live seems now. Our sorrows were as acute as any sons can be now; I am not so sure that they were more so in that we did not have the experiences of the big world to compare our little troubles with. The distance between what we wanted to do and what we actually got done was always great, so great that we had plenty of room for regret and for ambition. We dressed as other people of our time did and are not to be laughed at wholly because we would look funny today in these garbs. In many ways we were effective in our customs, for humanly we had the same needs as everybody knew everybody else and shared in joys and sorrows as if we were all the earth itself. I lived at a time when our own blindness to an age that is gone, and age quite as important as any that has ever come to America.

Long years of teaching American literature and American life have taught me to see that we have never probably evaluated the very time in which I lived at Fidelity. Books by hundreds have been written about our colonial days, about the Revolutionary War, about the Civil War, about the settlement of Kentucky, but show me any comparable material about that definite time between the Civil War and World War I. The old-time novel ended rather abruptly: "And they lived happily ever afterward." Too many of our histories have ended in much the same way. After Kentucky became a state, "little account is given of further pioneering in the remote places like my own Jackson Purchase and still less of the second or third generation of the pioneers, who really established the institutions of a free country and actually carried out the living happily ever afterward. It was well that Boone and Harrod and Henderson and others made the settlements; but there were equally heroic times and people who have never had an interpreter or an epitaph. Here is a brief tribute to these nameless heroes and heroines who, like the successors of Joshua, helped to occupy the land and transmit to future generations the valor and endurance of "the brave days of old." Like the hundreds of people who sleep in little Fidelity graveyards all over the country, these middle-age people, between the heroic pioneer days and the equally heroic present days, are "gone but not forgotten."

★ LET'S TAKE STOCK NOW

Everybody wants goods. Manufacturers want to make them for you.

Yet months after the war's end, you still find it difficult to get many of the things you want and should have.

So, isn't this the time for all of us to take stock . . . to learn a lesson . . . to find out, if we can, what will cure the troubles we are having and prevent their recurrence?

Let's look ahead and agree on a program that will insure the full production everybody agrees is the real answer to most of our problems.

Suppose we begin by taking a good look at three roadblocks to prosperity—

STRIKES
Whatever their justice or injustice, strikes paralyze production, force people to use up their savings, and result in losses that can never be made up.

PRICE CEILINGS
Full production isn't possible when industry suffers losses because of rising costs and frozen prices. Price ceilings limit production—goods just don't get made.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING
Continued huge government spending means continued high taxes. High taxes discourage production, hinder the creation of jobs, and leave you less to spend.

ISN'T THIS THE WAY?
The people, through Congress, can remove these roadblocks in the long-range interests of all . . .

By establishing a labor policy that will treat labor and management exactly alike, and above all be fair to the public;
By removing the shackles of price control on manufactured goods;
By cutting down on government spending now and balancing the Federal budget by the 1947 fiscal year at a level of income and outgo that taxpayers can stand.
Do you believe this program is in the public interest?
Your Representatives in Congress are the only ones that can put it into effect. Tell them how you feel about it.
